

World Jewish Congress
NextGen Intern

The World Jewish Congress (WJC) is the international organization representing over 100 Jewish communities and organizations around the world. It advocates on their behalf toward governments, parliaments, international organizations and other faiths. The WJC represents the plurality of the Jewish people and is politically non-partisan.

There is an opening for an internship position with the NextGen team at our headquarters in Manhattan or to work virtually.

This internship is best fitted to those individuals looking to engage young leaders and support student initiatives. Interns with an interest in communications and passion for creative problem solving will thrive in this position.

Job description:

Intern will facilitate with a variety of both established and growing projects in the recently launched NextGen department. These projects include, but are not limited to, Start-Up Nation Mentorship, NextGen Inc., and the Ronald S. Lauder Fellowship.

As the team expands, intern will work on general tasks within the growing department. Responsibilities include graphic design, general communications, research, writing, and logistics coordination. As initializes grow and evolve, intern will assist with outreach.

Qualifications:

- The position is open to students and recent graduates in international relations, politics, communications, humanities, or related subjects.
- The successful applicant will have a strong interest in human rights and international affairs, as well as a commitment to and understanding of Jewish student interests, both on and off campus.
- Strong oral and written communication skills in English are required. Knowledge of another official UN language is an asset.
- Strong interpersonal and teamwork skills, as well as independent thinking and initiative, are essential.

Terms and conditions:

- The internship position is unpaid. Students should check with their academic institution to see if they are able to gain academic credit for their internship with the World Jewish Congress.
- Interns are asked to commit for a minimum period of 2 months on a part-time basis.
- Starting date: flexible

The World Jewish Congress is an equal opportunities employer.

Applications can be submitted through this link.

CV & Motivation Letter are required for all applicants.